FOUR INJURED—Deputies check the scene of a Tuesday afternoon accident in which a 1970 Chevrolet ran off Rocky Hill-Dedeaux Road approximately one-half mile from Hwy. 603 and overturned, injuring four people. A Hancock Medical Center spokesperson said Larry D. Carter Jr., 19, of 338 Terrace Ave., Waveland, who was driver of the vehicle, suffered a fractured shoulder in the accident and was still hospitalized for observation for possible internal injuries. Two other passengers, Willie Lewis, 21, and Lee Lewis, 17, both of Rt. 6, Box

896A, Bay St. Louis, were treated and released, the spokesperson added. Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Kent Malley, who is in charge of a continuing investigation of the 4:27 p.m. incident, said Lee Lewis and Denny Carter apparently had been thrown from the vehicle. Malley said the vehicle apparently failed to negotiate a curve. Assisting at the scene were State Trooper David Kenny, Mobile Medic Ambulance Service and Kiln Volunteer Fire Department. Supervisors, Corps to confer on beach improvement study

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors will meet Friday with a representative of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers regarding progress on a two-year shore protection study.

Bob Martin, representing the Corps' Mobile, Ala., division, is on the board's agenda for 10 a.m.

The board of supervisors has been trying since early December to schedule a meeting with Martin on the study, which reportedly is behind schedule.

The county committed $77,000 to the study for the 1986-87 fiscal year and has been asked to contribute $66,000 for a second phase.

Martin met with the board and representatives of Gulf Regional Planning Commission, which is serving as administrator of the study funds, in July 1987 to discuss the study and stated at that time that the Corps was trying to determine the cost-benefit ratio of a sand berm replenishment program.

The board had originally agreed to fund the first half of the study after being told by South Mississippi Planning and Development District Representative Jeff Taylor that the results could be used to apply for grant funding.

While the Corps has no grant programs itself, Taylor had said that about $12 million, the county's estimate at the time for beach and Beach Road repair and replacement, could possibly be obtained through federal grants.

Taylor had assisted the Hancock County Sand Beach Technical Advisory Council in formulating a master plan for beachfront development.

The new board of supervisors announced Jan. 4 that the technical advisory council will be revived and a comprehensive plan for repair and development of the beachfront and Beach Road is one of the county's eight major goals for the 1988-1992 term.

Taylor had urged the previous county administration to try to get the study expedited because Congressman Trent Lott had been instrumental in its implementation and had been expected to be a major asset in obtaining the $12 million in grant funds.

The board agreed because Lott is now running for the seat being vacated by retirement of Senator John Stennis and the supervisors did not know if other congressmen would support the project.

Triton units invited to join Real People

By EDGAR H. PEREZ

The Krewe of Real People is currently accepting applications from units for its Mardi Gras Day parade in Bay St. Louis.

Krewe spokesman Charles Johnson said KORP welcomes units which have traditionally ridden or marched in the Triton Parade.

The Triton Parade formerly rolled along US-90 in Bay St. Louis and Waveland on Mardi Gras Day, but the Triton organization announced last week it has disbanded and cancelled its ball and parade for 1988.

KORP this year will be the only parade in Hancock County.

The Krewe of Nerieds parades on US-90 in Waveland on Sunday, Feb. 7 and will stage its 22nd annual ball Saturday, Jan. 23, 9 p.m. at Mississippi Coast Coliseum, Biloxi.

KORP will stage its sixth annual Coronation Ball from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 6 at Valena C. Jones Community Center gymnasium, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis.

Theme of the event is 'All That Jazz' with music to be provided by Joy, according to Johnson.

Tickets for the ball are available at $10 per person, he said.

Further information on KORP Parade entry applications or ball tickets may be obtained from Johnson at 467-8482 or Dianne Duvernay, 467-0764.

Bay woman stopped, assaulted by phony police officer

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Bay St. Louis police are investigating an incident Tuesday in which a Bay woman was stopped by a man impersonating a police officer who made sexual advances.

"We want the public to be aware of this incident and take precautionary measures," stated Bay Detective David Murtagh.

"Anyone who is uncertain of the situation when being hailed to stop by a flashing blue light should continue at a normal speed until they reach a place where they believe it is safe to stop," he added.

Murtagh said continuing at the normal speed is important because if a person speeds up to try and get away, a police officer will begin pursuit and someone could get hurt.

A person in this situation should go to the police station or one of the other law enforcement agency offices in the county or any place where there are people and it will be safe, Murtagh said.

He also said the person should explain to the officer immediately when they reach a safe place to stop.

According to Murtagh in Tuesday's incident, the woman was traveling north on Beach Boulevard about 9:40 p.m. when she noticed the flashing blue light and pulled to the side of the road near St. Stanislaus College.

A black male, dressed in a dark blue police shirt with a silver badge, asked first for her drivers license and then told her to step out of the car, according to Murtagh.

The man then asked her to sit in his vehicle as he collected information and then proceeded to act as if he were writing down information from her drivers license.

Next the man returned her drivers license and then locked her car door and began making sexual advances. The woman pushed him away and escaped back to her car.

As she escaped the man yelled, "If you go to the police I will get you," according to Murtagh.

"This sort of incident makes it very difficult for law enforcement officers in unmarked vehicles to make any traffic stops," he said.

Murtagh said most traffic stops are made by officers in clearly marked vehicles with permanent lights on top of the car.

One way to be fairly certain it is a police officer is if they turn on the siren, he added.

This is a good sign that the person is a police officer because a siren costs about $700 and a person who is impersonating a police officer would not want attention drawn to the scene by turning on a siren, Murtagh said.

The man involved in Tuesday's incident is described as a black male with a light complexion, 5'11", 150-160 pounds and a muscular build.

He was wearing a dark blue police officers uniform shirt with a silver badge and blue jeans.

He was driving a late model dark blue Ford LTD with a citizens' band radio antenna and a Mississippi license plate.

Inside the vehicle was a citizens' band radio and a blue steel revolver.

Murtagh said he did not believe this was the first time this man had impersonated a police officer because of the professional manner in which he acted.

"The man is either an ex-law enforcement officer, he has had law enforcement training or he has been stopped by officers many times," Murtagh said.

An investigation of the incident is being conducted and Murtagh is checking with other law enforcement agencies along the Gulf Coast to see if similar incidents have been reported.

Jail officers complete training

Sheriff Ronald Peterson and Warden Jim Odom of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department report five county deputies have successfully completed the basic Jail Officer's Training Course developed by the National Sheriffs' Association and the National Institute of Corrections.

"Completion of this course by our officers will aid our department in coping with the challenges of the 1980's," Odom said.

Officers completing the training program include: Gerald I. Nicaise, Russell J. Watts, John O. Felder, Anita Fowler and Charles O. Carver.

The training program contains studies in law, medicine, administration, proper record keeping, accurate report writing, the newest developments in jail security, skills needed for dealing with violent prisoners, the alcoholic, the mentally ill, the suicide prone, and the mentally retarded.

These examples illustrate a few of the topics studied by the officer in this initial comprehensive course designed to familiarize jail personnel with some of the problems which plague our nation's jails.

"Today's jail officer is not the matron, guard or turnkey of yesterday," said Odom.

"It is a position which requires intelligence, continual training and strong, healthy personal characteristics if one is to survive the pressures of the job, Odom added. "This jail training should decrease the threat of lawsuits filed because of improper or insufficient training. Through constant training, our jail staff continues to sharpen their present skills to keep abreast of the pervasive waves of change confronting administrators running our nation's jails," Odom stated.

The National Sheriffs' Association is headquartered in Alexandria, Va. and is dedicated to professionalization in the office of sheriff. The National Institute of Corrections is a part of the United States Department of Justice.

MISSISSIPPI POWER OFFICE—Bay St. Louis-Pass Christian Area Supervisor Randy Castello displays an architect's model of the original design for the new Mississippi Power Company office being constructed on the corner of Dunbar Avenue and the US-90 service road. Castello said the office is expected to be completed by mid-November and will replace the current one on Main Street, while the present Pass Christian facility will be retained for the convenience of customers who wish to continue paying bills there as well as for its storage facilities. Castello is presently using a temporary administrative office in Colonial Plaza across from Gulf National Bank, but the new facility will allow Mississippi Power to consolidate administrative, service and other functions for the Bay St. Louis-Pass Christian area. The architectural firm for the project is Slaughter and Allred of Pascagoula and the contractor is Mack's Construction of Hattiesburg.

Weekend events to honor Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

By EDGAR H. PEREZ

Special events Saturday and Sunday in Bay St. Louis and Biloxi are planned in observance of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Day which also will be marked by a national holiday Monday.

The Hancock County Branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is hosting its ninth annual Mother of The Year Supper Theater Saturday at Gulfside Methodist Assembly in Waveland.

The celebration begins at 7 p.m. and will feature an address by Rev. Harry C. Tartt of Gulfport, pastor of Riley Chapel and Mount Pleasant United Methodist Church, both in Gulfport.

Rev. Tartt is a Biloxi native and an honor graduate of Dillard University in New Orleans, La.

He holds a master's degree from Xavier University and also attended University of Chicago, California State College at San Jose, Duke University and University of Tennessee.

In addition he has completed the pastor's course at Chandler School of Theology, Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Rev. Tartt served 23 years in the U.S. Armed Forces and is a former Gulfport School System teacher.

Marilyn Smith, branch president, will serve as mistress of ceremonies with a musical tribute to Dr. King provided by the gospel choirs of Valena C. Jones Methodist Church and St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church, both in Bay St. Louis.

The choirs will be directed by Al Acker of Bay St. Louis and Ronald Ramsey of Pass Christian.

Invocation, benediction and scriptural reading will be provided by Revs. Arthur Lewis Jr. and Lee E. Morris of VCJ Methodist and Macedonia Baptist churches, respectively.

Welcoming address will be delivered by Wendell Taylor, executive director of Gulfside. Henry S. Twigg of Cynosure magazine will introduce the guest speaker.

The 1987 'Mother of the Year,' Mrs. Louise Williams of Bay St. Louis, will crown this year's winner following a musical selection by Deborah Deloach.

Ya-Sin Shabazz of Bay St. Louis will present other awards.

The Hancock County Branch, NAACP also is sponsoring a parade scheduled to begin at 11:30 a.m. Sunday in connection with dedication of the Washington Street Park in Bay St. Louis to the memory of Dr. King.

The march will assemble at VCJ Methodist Church on Sycamore Street, proceed on Sycamore to St. Francis Street, St. Francis to Washington, and along Washington to the park.

The Washington Street Park will be renamed the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Park in ceremonies following the parade Sunday.

Highlight of Coast-wide celebration centered in Biloxi will be a KING—Page 7A

Teacher federation participating in King birthday observance

For the eighth consecutive year the Mississippi American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, is distributing educational material on the life of Dr. Martin Luther King to help teachers and other interested persons in preparation for the King national holiday, Jan. 18. The information may also be used during February, Black History month.

"Education in the struggle for dreams reaches beyond the four walls of a classroom," said Maryann Graczyk, MAFT president, "and we are proud to be an active contributor to that education."

The material includes lesson plans on the life, times and thoughts of Dr. King. The lesson plans for both elementary and secondary levels are complete with goals, procedures and background information.

In addition there are bibliographies for children and adults and in a chronology chart of important events. Also included in the packet are reprints of King's "Letter from Birmingham Jail" and the "I Have a Dream" speech.

"This has been a very popular project since it serves a need that many textbooks have not adequately addressed," said Graczyk. Those interested are urged to place their order soon.

The materials, which are being distributed free of charge, may be obtained by sending a large, manilla, stamped (44 cents), self-addressed envelope to Mississippi American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, King Education Material, P.O. Box 6472, Biloxi, MS 39520. Also include a letter specifying how the materials will be used.

If more information is needed call the MAFT at 1-800-227-MAFT.

Poultry, eggs to be bargain at grocery

Consumers can expect grocery store bargains on chicken and eggs because of a projected increase in supply.

Poultry prices are expected to remain at 1987 levels or even drop as supplies exceed consumer demand, said Dr. Robert Haynes, professor of poultry science and poultry specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Haynes said demand for poultry was strong at the beginning of last year, surpassing supplies. Supply slowly caught up with demand toward the end of 1987 and now has matched demand.

"As a result of supply catching demand, Mississippi consumers can expect continued good prices for poultry and eggs throughout the year," Haynes said.

Lower feed prices caused by lower grain prices will also maintain good poultry prices. "If producers are paying less for feed, then their savings will be passed on to consumers," Haynes said.

In other agricultural news, farming activities across the state are at a standstill because of cold weather. "Our firewood is running short," said James Richmond, Jefferson

Davis county agent. "Tender growth on winter grazing and wheat has been burned by cold."

Farmers in Perry County are spraying fruit trees for scales and those in Attala County are putting out feed for livestock because of poor pastures.

Livestock feed supplies in Lauderdale County are adequate, said county agent James Hollis.

Rodent control a specialized problem in winter months

By Linda S. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Eliminating mice and rats during the colder weather can be a losing battle if not done properly. Property damage can occur before the homeowner realizes the severity of the situation.

Dr. Robert Haynes, poultry specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, has researched rodents because of the seriousness of the pests in poultry houses.

Haynes said that although they are highly visible during the winter months, rats and mice are present in higher numbers during the fall and spring months when they breed more frequently.

Effective efforts to control the rat and mouse populations are the keys to preventing serious property damage. The best way to fight the pests is to know a little about them. Haynes said the best way to control rodents is to close all routes into a building. The second best control method is to remove shelter, food and water. Both options are difficult to accomplish. The final option is by poisoning, trapping or using cats, or a combination of the three.

If cats are used, they should be well fed and watered to maintain their energy.

"The house mouse tends to range from a few feet to up to 25 feet," Haynes said. "This is important to know when determining the frequency and distance to place poison bait or traps."

He said to place traps across or near paths the rodents normally use. "Because they have poor eyesight and seek protection, they like to run close to walls," Haynes said. Snap type mouse traps should be set against the wall with the trigger end toward the wall.

Haynes said that although trapping is a practical way to eliminate rodents in relatively small areas, it may not be so practical in larger areas such as poultry houses or other commercial operations.

"Because mice travel only short distances, you should set traps every 10 feet," Haynes said. "With rats, place traps every 25 to 50 feet."

Rats and mice are not limited to cheese as their favorite food. Haynes said other foods such as fruits, sweet chocolate and peanut butter work well as baits.

"The important thing to remember with any bait material is that baits and bait containers must be fresh and clean for best acceptance," Haynes said. "Thinking that rats and mice prefer spoiled, unclean food is false."

When using anticoagulant (slow kill) poisons, it is important to remember the poison must be available daily for at least five days before the rodents will begin to die. Therefore, Haynes recommends poisons be available continuously for at least two weeks.

Although effective, poisons create other problems. One problem is that the mice may die in the walls or in other hard-to-reach places where the odor can be nearly unbearable. Poisons are also dangerous when used around pets and children.

Mice and rats are one type of wildlife that nearly everyone would rather not have.

Research saves lives.

Sodium-free Seasoning

Trying to shake the salt habit can seem like an impossible task. Food has absolutely no taste and you may wonder if you will ever enjoy eating again.

Learning to eat the low sodium way takes time. Your desire for salty foods did not happen overnight nor will it go away overnight.

Begin shaking the salt habit by first reducing how much salt is used in food preparation and leaving the salt shaker off the table.

Next, learn to read labels. Be able to identify terms that indicate sodium is present in the food. These include: brine, sea salt, MSG (monosodium glutamate), soy sauce, baking soda, baking powder and sodium-containing additives such as sodium atrate. Try to use fewer foods that are high in sodium. Buy unsalted snacks. Nuts, crackers and even potato chips can be purchased unsalted.

Experiment with other herbs and spices for seasoning foods. At first, you may not like the results, but with a little time of adjusting to less salt (sodium) and learning which herbs and spices are preferred, it might surprise you just how good the food actually tastes without salt.

Try the following sodium-free seasoning mixes in place of salt when preparing food.

American heart Association Herb Mix (All-purpose)

½ teaspoon cayenne (red pepper)

1 tablespoon garlic powder

1 teaspoon of each of the following ground seasonings: basil, thyme, parsley, savory, mace, onion powder, black pepper and sage.

If you start with leaves, use 1½ teaspoons of basil, parsley, and sage, and 1¼ teaspoons of thyme and savory.

Combine all the seasonings in a blender jar. Blend the ingredients at medium-high speed until they are ground.

Blend for Vegetables and Meat

1 teaspoon thyme

1 teaspoon marjoram

¼ teaspoon rosemary

¼ teaspoon sage.

¼ teaspoon parsley flakes

¼ teaspoon sage

¼ teaspoon onion powder

¼ teaspoon marjoram

Lehrer play premieres at Jackson's New Stage Theatre

JACKSON—The world premiere of 'Church Key Charlie Blue' by Jim Lehrer, co-anchor of the MacNeil/Lehrer Newshour on PBS, highlights the current season at New Stage Theatre, Mississippi's resident professional theatre.

The play runs Jan. 27 through Feb. 13 and is this season's selection in New Stage's Eudora Welty New Plays Series.

A preview performance of the play will be held to benefit New Stage and the Welty Series Jan. 26.

For more information on the benefit or for ticket information for other performances, contact the box office, 1100 Carlisle Street, 948-3531.

Regular ticket prices are $12.50 for opening, Friday and Saturday nights and $11.50 for Tuesday - Thursday evenings and matinees. Discounts

Clinton and Michael Kirkland of are available for students, senior citizens and groups.

Directed by Jane Reid-Petty, the theatre's founder and artistic director, the show is sponsored by Dunn Construction Company. The Welty Series honors Mississippi's acclaimed writer who serves actively as an adviser to the theatre.

The play is about a group of East Texas good old boys who meet at the neighborhood bar to watch Monday Night Football. They are visited by Church Key Charlie Blue, a legendary football hero who represents Sanantone Beer.

The results are both touching and wildly funny as the men discover the truth about their hero.

Mississippi actors with roles in the production are Malcolm McMillin of Harrisville.

Other actors playing in the show are Jennifer Gray and Macaulay Bruton of Dallas, David Urrutia of New York, Ron Augur of Lebanon, Tenn. and Nat Benchley of Washington, D.C.

The set and lighting are designed by Roger Farkash. Members of the New Stage production team are Kenneth J. Lewis, production manager/technical director; Kathrine Pierce, stage manager; Janet Gray, costume designer; Bill McCarty III, master electrician; and Walt Johnson, Nick Mowen and Russell Luke, technical assistants.

Lehrer, a noted journalist and writer of fiction, turned his hand at playwrighting five years ago. He said his attention was lured to New Stage Theatre by Welty, who invited him to submit plays.

The first submissions were Lehrer's 'Silversides Thrulliner' and 'Cedar Chest,' which were given workshop productions in 1986.

Lehrer's 'Chile Queen' was produced Off Broadway in 1986 and was produced at the Kennedy Center in Washington in 1987.

Lehrer spent part of last summer as playwright in residence at Robert Redford's Sundance Institute where he spearheaded a workshop production of another new play he has completed, 'The Greater Man.'

His first novel, 'Viva Max!' was made into a movie starring Peter Ustinov and Jonathan Winters.

GCRL to try native plants on Harrison beach erosion

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs has been awarded a $50,000 contract by the Harrison County Board of Supervisors to conduct a project using native plants to control sand beach erosion in Harrison County.

Dr. Lionel N. Eleuterius, GCRL botany section head, is the project director for botanical work, and Dr. Ervin Otvos, GCRL geology section head, is the principal investigator for geological work.

Primary objective of the project is to use known research techniques to propagate native plants that can be placed on the beach for erosion control. Stabilization of wind-driven sand by vegetation is expected to reduce the need for sand replenishment and to decrease or eliminate sand accumulation on U.S. Highway 90 in Harrison County.

The Laboratory will provide technical expertise in developing propagating methods for new beach plants never used before in erosion control. GCRL will supply transplants and design configurations for aesthetically-pleasing erosion control.

News from the Capitol City

ELLEN ANN FENTRESS
Mississippi reporting service
JACKSON—The Mississippi Legislature went to work on its opening chores last week for the new four-year term as 174 members took the oath of office, watched outgoing Gov. Bill Allain pack up and incoming Gov.-Elect Ray Mabus prepare to move in.

The only legislation to get floor attention was effectively killed when House members sent a Senate-passed package of pay raises for state officials back to committee.

The spotlight in the first week was on the new leadership face of the House, where Rep. Tim Ford of Tupelo took office as expected as the new House speaker, succeeding long-time Speaker Buddie Newman, who did not seek re-election in 1987. Also tapped as a House leader last week was Rep. Cecil Simmons, re-elected Speaker Pro Tem.

The rules panels of each chamber were also elected last week. A House-elected Rules Committee was one of the major reforms pushed through the House last year in a power struggle that reduced Newman's power. In the past, the House speaker has named a Rules Committee. Electing the rules committee has been the long-time practice in the Senate.

Part of the opening week activities was a final speech by Allain, who stepped down from office on Tuesday, Jan. 12.

He cited his unsuccessful support of rewriting the state constitution, an issue on the 1988 legislative agenda, as an example of being ahead of his time.

The low-profile governor cited as accomplishments of his administration higher-than-expected tax collections and a state government reorganization triggered by a separations-of-powers lawsuit he filed as attorney general.

But also during Allain's administration, legislators passed two of the biggest milestones over his objections. Both a three-year nearly $4,000 pay raise for the state's teachers in 1985 and the 1987 $1.6 billion highway building plan were passed over Allain's veto.

As Allain packs up, the focus at the Capitol this week is on Mabus as he steps in, armed by a campaign promise to raise teacher pay by $5,000 to the Southeastern average as his first order of business.

As Mabus walked into his new job, he did so without a pay raise. The Senate launched a move to raise the governor's salary from $63,000 to $82,500, which was nixed by the House. The real target of the pay raise measure was giving state judges more money. Judges salaries now range from $51,000 for circuit and chancery judges to $60,000 for the Supreme Court's chief justice.

Mabus would have been the beneficiary of a state law that prohibits any public official's salary from being higher than the governor's.

The Senate approved the pay raise bill 40-12, but the House turned the bill down as indicated in a 63-56 procedural vote against reconsidering it.

However, House members have indicated that they would address pay raises later in the session.

One of the week's chores for House and Senate members was electing members of the Rules Committee for each chamber. Besides cranking out congratulatory resolutions for deserving Mississippians from beauty queens to winning junior high ping-pong teams, the panels also set the priority for floor votes on bills and initiate the resurrection of a defeated bill.

The newly elected Senate Rules Committee is made up of Sens. Pud Graham, New Albany; Ollie Mohamed, Belzoni; Billy Thames, Mize; Ronnie Shows, Bassfield; Tommy Gollott, Biloxi; Senate President Pro Tem Glen Dewese, Meridian, and Lt. Gov. Brad Dye.

The House Rules Committee is composed of the speaker, speaker pro tem and 10 members elected from the House: Mike Mills, Aberdeen; John Pennebaker, New Albany; Sonny Merideth, Greenville; Will Green Poindexter, Inverness; Eric Clark, Taylorsville; Charles Young, Meridian; David Green, Gloster, Bill Singletary, Clinton; Bill Jones, Petal; Danny Guice, Ocean Springs.

The White House Canadian free trade agreement

By Ronald Reagan
If someone were to ask us as a nation who our best friends are, what would be the answer? It is difficult to imagine any better friends than our neighbors, the Canadians. Our two peoples have lived, side by side, in peace and with the spirit of goodwill for the better part of two centuries.

Winston Churchill once noted, "That long (Canadian) frontier from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans, guarded only by neighborly respect and honorable obligations, is an example to every country and a pattern for the future of the world."

Churchill, as usual, was as profound as he was eloquent. It would not surprise him to find out that the citizens of Canada and the United States are moving together toward a truly historic achievement. Earlier this month, Prime Minister Mulroney and I entered into a free trade agreement, which once approved by the United States Congress and the Canadian Parliament, will establish our countries as the world's largest free trade area.

The U.S.-Canadian Free Trade Agreement is the culmination of 18 months of strenuous negotiations between our governments. Both Prime Minister Mulroney and I played an active role in the process, keeping the negotiations on track and ensuring that the outcome would be absolutely fair and equitable.

Frankly, I think we have come up with a winner, a winner for people on both sides of the border.

Canada and the United States are already each other's largest trading partners. Our bilateral trade in goods and services exceeded $150 billion in 1986. The economic health and national security of our countries are linked. This well-honored treaty will build on these ties that already exist and open up tremendous new potential.

The treaty will, over a 10-year period, eliminate the tariffs and bring down most of the trade barriers that now serve only to tax or impede the commerce between our two peoples.

What will this accomplish? Numerous studies have shown that the Agreement will mean billions of dollars in new economic growth for both countries, each year. This means thousands of new jobs, increased investment, and expanding opportunities.

And it is not just the export industries which will reap the rewards. The most easily recognized beneficiaries of this pact will be the consumers of both countries. With enhanced competition, lower prices can be expected as well as greater consumer choice.

As for industry, eliminating the obstacles to doing business and wiping out tariffs is going to be a great boon to manufacturing on both sides of the border. Markets will open that have been restricted, sources of raw material and parts that are now made more expensive by tariffs will be available at a lower cost. In short, this treaty is going to be overwhelmingly positive for both Canada and the United States.

This, however, does not mean that there will be no opposition. Whenever there is change, even for the better, there are segments of society that resist, small groups that have a special interest in keeping things the way they are, even at the expense of keeping everybody else from moving forward. Benjamin Franklin, our much venerated Founding Father, saw this, even in his day. Talking about trade he noted, "the more free and unrestrained it is, the more it flourishes; and the happier are all the nations concerned in it. Most of the restraints put upon it," he pointed out, "seem to have been the projects of particularists for their private interest, under pretense of public good."

In approaching the U.S.-Canadian Free Trade Agreement, I would hope that the national interest will overcome the pressure of the private interest, on both sides of the border. I would hope that our peoples, of Canada and the United States and their elected representatives, are able to keep their eyes on the long-term growth and opportunity that will be forthcoming with this Agreement, rather than short-run dislocation that comes with any change.

In Canada, there are those who fear that their national identity might be damaged by a closer association with such a large country as the United States. Experience says otherwise. European countries have for decades cooperated closely on trade, yet the national character of each member nation still remains vital and distinctive. Canada, too, has a national character that will not only survive, but flourish in an environment of free trade and expanding opportunity.

I have no doubt that history will prove this Agreement a boon to both our peoples. And through it, we will be an example to all the world of what free people can accomplish, and demonstrate that the path to economic growth, job creation, and security is through negotiation and cooperation, not protectionism.

The People's Business

Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE COOPERATION

The private and public sectors must work together to ensure progress in Mississippi and both groups have pledged a spirit of cooperation as the new governor prepares to take office.

Speaking at the Mississippi Economic Council's Economic Development Summit Conference, MEC Chairman Kenneth Milam challenged Governor-Elect Ray Mabus to take advantage of the resources of the private sector as business leaders offer their cooperation in moving the state forward.

"There seems to be a cry, 'Let's don't play catch up, let's be a leader, a winner,'" Milam said to the more than 400 business and state leaders gathered for the one-day conference.

Milam said the state's business leadership is ready to lend its support to state officials.

And Mabus, addressing the same group, said public and private sectors are not adversaries, but working for the same goals.

He said all of those gathered were economic development agents for the state and he pledged his support to community efforts to attract industries and new jobs.

Mabus said he will offer his time and help any time it is needed for economic development causes.

The Mississippi State Flag

The NAACP has presented Mississippians with a taste of their views about our flag. We would like to give you another side of the story. The Mississippi State Flag was created by an Act of Legislation in 1894. Since then, it has been an inspiration and a driving force for Black and White Mississippians together. We would like to give the story from the beginning.

The Civil War did not come about solely on the issue of slavery. The South endured many hardships in its early existence. We were not given fair representation in Congress, and our forefathers were considered as inferior citizens by upper class aristocrats in the Northern States. It was time for a change. Mississippians united to fight the Northerners in a battle for their own integrity.

When designed, it was a memorial to the men who lost their lives in this very war. We should not sell the people who fought for Mississippi's existence short by changing the flag. We have been last together, and we will someday be first together. When we look at the flag, we don't see a stained past; we see a brighter tomorrow. We see hard-working men and women trying to make Mississippi the best it can be. Spending our energy disputing among ourselves about the flag lays no foundation of progress for the children of our generation. We are proud to be represented by such a majestic and distinguished symbol of Mississippi's past and future.

If it is changed to suit a few Mississippians, then tradition and history have no meaning. Have we forgotten our ancestors, Black and White, who died for Mississippi? Like us, they went to battle for a better future. The fate of Mississippi lies in our hands. Throwing away our flag shows regression, not progression; and it is time for Mississippi to push forward.

Today's Mississippians should not be blamed for actions of the past. At that time, slavery was a way of life. Without the help of the Black man, the income of the South would have collapsed. The slave and freeman would have starved together.

We owe those Black Mississippians gratitude for nursing our State through oppression. Now is a time to look to the future and not dwell on the past. The past is gone, and the termination of this wonderful flag will not heal any wounds. We would be ashamed to have our children ask us, "Daddy, why didn't you stop them from changing the heritage for which Great-grandpa died?"—A burden we may soon have to carry.

For the future of this state, we call to all Mississippians, as brothers, to unite in pride and let our flag fly!

ASK OCHSNER

Q. My husband snores very loudly, which keeps me awake at night. But now, his snoring is so loud, he wakes himself up. We are both literally exhausted. Is there anything we can do about this so we can get a good night's sleep? Mrs. JT, Amite, La.

A. Your husband might be suffering from a significant nasal obstruction or from a condition called sleep apnea. The person with sleep apnea is usually male, 30 to 60 years old and, in the majority of cases, overweight, says Dr. Bren Butcher, an ear nose and throat specialist at the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans.

The relaxed excess tissue at the back of the throat, which is characteristic of sleep apnea, intermittently blocks the breathing passages and prevents a person from receiving adequate oxygen. The person literally may go without breathing for as long as two minutes.

To determine whether a chronic snorer is really a sleep apnea victim, a patient's respiratory effort, heart rate, blood oxygen levels and body movements are monitored. This procedure is usually carried out in a hospital setting, but admitting the person to an inpatient "sleep lab" puts the patient in an unfamiliar environment, which may prevent him from relaxing to the point that the sleep apnea will manifest itself.

Physicians now have at their disposal a small and simple device called a Vitalog Sleep Monitor. This monitor causes no discomfort and does not interfere with the patient's ability to fall asleep in his familiar surroundings.

This monitor reads the appropriate body functions through small leads attached to skin electrodes and chest belts. The following morning, the patient brings in the monitor, and the data is fed into a personal computer programmed to provide a read-out of results.

Nuclear accident expert to address Touro meet

Dr. Robert P. Gale, the internationally recognized expert on the treatment of victims of nuclear accidents who has frequently gone to the Soviet Union to consult in the treatment of the 1986 Chernobyl nuclear power plant explosion, will deliver the 1988 Leo S. Weil Memorial Lecture at Touro Infirmary Thursday, Jan. 21, at 5 p.m.

The public lecture, "Consequences of Nuclear Accidents—Lessons from Chernobyl," will be delivered at Touro's School of Nursing Auditorium, 3450 Chestnut Street. While there is no charge, tickets are required and may be reserved by calling 897-8435.

An associate professor of medicine and head of the bone marrow transplant unit of the University of California, Los Angeles Medical Center, Dr. Gale is also chairman of the Milwaukee-based international bone marrow transplant registry. He is one of America's leading bone marrow transplant specialists.

Once his offer to help try to save some of the victims of the Chernobyl nuclear plant explosion was accepted by the Soviet Union, Dr. Gale requested and received permission to be joined by a team of three specialists. Working with Soviet colleagues, they undertook the unprecedented task of performing a series of bone marrow transplants on short notice. Dr. Gale is also cooperating with Soviet doctors in studies and monitoring long-range effects of Chernobyl.

Dr. Gale received his MD from the State University of New York at Buffalo School of Medicine and a PhD in microbiology and immunobiology from the University of California, Los Angeles.

He is a diplomat of both the American Board of Internal Medicine and the American Board of Medical Oncology and a fellow, American College of Physicians.

He has received several honorary doctorate degrees and numerous honors, including the Olender Peace Award; Presidential Award, New York Academy of Sciences; Intra-Science Research Foundation Humanitarian Award and the Scientist of Distinction Award, Weizmann Institute of Science.

Dr. Gale serves on the editorial board of seven medical journals and as a member of the California State Senate Task Force on Radiation Accidents, the Los Angeles County Emergency Medical Team Task Force on Radiation Accidents and the Veterans Administration Advisory Committee.

The Leo S. Weil Memorial Lecture was established in 1962 in honor of Mr. Weil, a past president of Touro's Board of Managers.

Biloxi seeking new school superintendent

The Biloxi school board is accepting applications through Feb. 15 for the position of superintendent, which is being vacated by Dr. Olon E. Ray.

Ray has been named education assistant to Mississippi Governor Ray Mabus.

School board vice president Annette Luther, who is coordinating the search effort, said vacancy announcements and application materials may be obtained by writing Walterine Maddox, Executive Assistant, Biloxi Public Schools, P.O. Box 168, Biloxi, MS, 39533, or by calling her at (801) 374-1810.

All application materials should be returned to Maddox and postmarked no later than Feb. 15.

Candidates should not make direct personal contact with the board, Mrs. Luther said. Necessary contacts will be initiated by the board. Inquiries should be direct to Mrs. Maddox.

The board will screen the applications and interview only selected candidates. Interview dates have not been set, but probably will be conducted in mid-March. The board plans to have the new superintendent begin work by July 1, Luther said.

NASA offers temporary solution to county landfill space problems

BY DENA BISNETTE

A temporary solution to space problems at the county landfill in Catahoula has been offered to the county by NASA officials.

Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson said he has received an answer to a Nov. 5 letter he sent NASA officials regarding the possibility of additional property for the landfill, which falls under NASA jurisdiction because it is located in the buffer zone for National Space Technology Laboratories.

The board had instructed Johnson to work on trying to get the landfill expanded and to seek another site, and when the new board took office Jan. 4 he was told to continue that project.

Johnson said the NASA letter stated that the county could use the remainder of the 28-acre site in Catahoula if certain conditions are met and all necessary permits can be obtained.

The landfill presently takes up less than 20 acres of the site.

Johnson said he sees the NASA offer as a good temporary solution and plans to present the matter to the board for consideration on Friday.

However, he plans to continue seeking another site because the additional acreage in Catahoula will "only buy us a little more time."

"For now, I will advise the board to see if they want to stay at that location, but our long-range plan is still to look for another site," the maintenance superintendent stated.

He said the county may seek some satellite trash sites because they would help take some of the load from the landfill.

Johnson explained that trash site requirements are not nearly as stringent as those for a landfill because trash sites are not used for disposal of any kind of material that could pose a health hazard as household garbage can.

Another landfill site will have to be approved by proper authorities and will involve such precautions as test bores to determine the level of underground water and the filling of an environmental impact statement.

In order to use the remainder of the 28-acre site, the county will have to agree to comply with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on an amendment to the original NASA permit for the site, provide a survey of the entire tract and contact the State Bureau of Pollution Control to work out all necessary permits or permit modifications, Johnson said.

The county will have to agree to fence the entire property, which is only partially fenced now with a gate at the deadend of the old Kiln-Picayune Road, which serves as the public's only access road to the site.

The landfill has been a problem in the past for the supervisors, but according to Johnson the facility passed its last inspection "with a good report," complying with all necessary regulations of the Bureau of Pollution Control, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and other permitting agencies.

"We got a confirmation on the results from the inspectors," he added.

Johnson said after presenting the NASA offer to the board, one of his next moves will be to try to determine exactly how much household garbage, trash and other material is brought into the landfill in a given time period.

The public may currently use the landfill seven days a week between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.

In addition, the board of supervisors that just left office had an agreement with a private garbage collection contractor for use of the landfill.

He plans to use the information to help select a new landfill site.

Port commission to discuss railroad car wash, weigh scales

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission will meet Friday to review figures by an engineering firm to draw plans and specifications for a rail line car wash and weigh scales for Port Bienvenue Industrial Park.

The commission Monday discussed the construction and purchase of the rail line car wash and weigh scales and voted to get engineering estimates before proceeding with the project.

Commissioner Nancy Gex, chairman of the railroad committee, told the group the railroad committee had conducted several meetings regarding these items.

"The railroad committee recommended that the Port and Harbor Commission should operate these new ventures on our own or at least try it for a year and see what happens," she said.

Gex also reported a recommendation to employ Cortech Engineers Inc. to draw up the plans and specifications so advertisements may be placed for bids on labor and materials of these items.

An agreement has already been reached with Borg-Warner Chemical Operations in the industrial park which has guaranteed there will be 350 railroad cars per year to be washed at a cost of $250 per car, she said.

"We all believe that we are going to be washing in excess of the 350 cars but Borg-Warner was nice enough to give us this guarantee," Gex added.

The car wash will be conducted on run-around track approximately 1,000 feet long with the proper bed to allow for the car-washing facility.

Gex said the cars which will be washed are those which have been used to haul the plastic pellets produced at Borg Warner but no cars which had carried hazardous chemicals will be washed in this facility.

She also reported the committee had received some "very interesting" information about a weighing scale which would have the capacity to weigh all railroad cars necessary and is much less expensive than the committee expected.

"Borg Warner has also pre-approved the design of this scale," she said.

The committee recommended a cost of $70 per car for weighing.

A rigid type of weighing scale was recommended and it has the capacity to weigh up to 200,000 pounds per axle.

Odie Ladner, field superintendent, said a loaded railroad car will probably weigh 125,000 pounds or less per axle.

He said the rigid type of scale is much more feasible than the old floating type scale and will only take four days for installation.

The scale will be placed on the main railroad line.

Wal-Mart names Waveland store contractor

BENTONVILLE, Ark.—Harold West Contractors of Laurel, has been named general contractor for a 65,930 square foot Wal-Mart store to be located in a proposed shopping center on US-90 and Hwy. 603-43 in Waveland.

Construction on the project is scheduled to begin in early 1988 and Wal-Mart officials estimate that the store should be completed and ready for a Summer 1988 opening.

Tom Seay, senior vice president of real estate and construction, said, "We are extremely pleased with the quality of Harold's work in other Wal-Mart projects and feel confident that they will construct an attractive and structurally sound store."

Approximately 120 jobs are expected to be created as a result of the store's opening. Prior to the store opening, interview dates and locations will be announced in local classified sections for anyone interested in employment with Wal-Mart. There are over 180,000 Wal-Mart employees throughout the company's 1,114 store, 23-state trade territory. Approximately 140 stores are scheduled to open during 1988.

ATHLETIC ABUSES
Across the country, college athletics are under fire. Coaches, students and universities are under intense scrutiny because of abuses by players within the educational system.

"Coach!", a one-hour special airing at 10 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 14, on Mississippi ETV, will examine the lives and careers of two men who still believe that education is as important as victory: Joe Paterno, head football coach at Penn State, and Roland Massimino, head basketball coach at Villanova.

The special focuses on the Paterno and Massimino that the public rarely sees. Both men care deeply about their players and have earned their players' respect.

The program features interviews with the two coaches, their players, former players, colleagues and top sportswriters who explain the two men's different coaching styles—Massimino, is emotional and expressive; Paterno, is a combination drill sergeant and five-star general, running his team with the precision of an army battalion.

SSC victorious over D'Iberville, Bay High

The St. Stanislaus Rockachaws upped their season record to 10-6 with consecutive wins over D'Iberville and Bay High in varsity basketball action over the past week.

In a district 4A matchup, the Rockachaws easily outclassed the D'Iberville Warriors 67-56 in a game played last Tuesday evening at the Rockachaw gymnasium.

Leading the scoring for the Rocks was Yasin Shabazz with 24 points, followed by Brian Alexander with 13 points and Chad Matthews with 12 points. Shannon Garrett contributed nine points to the winning effort.

The Rocks jumped out to an 18-14 advantage in the first quarter, with several three-point efforts by Shabazz. By halftime, the Rocks held a 37-29 lead, as Coach Chuck Genin's offense began to click.

traveled to Picayune to face Bay High in the Picayune Tournament. The Rocks and the Tigers had met once before during the season, with SSC taking a close 52-49 decision over the Tigers.

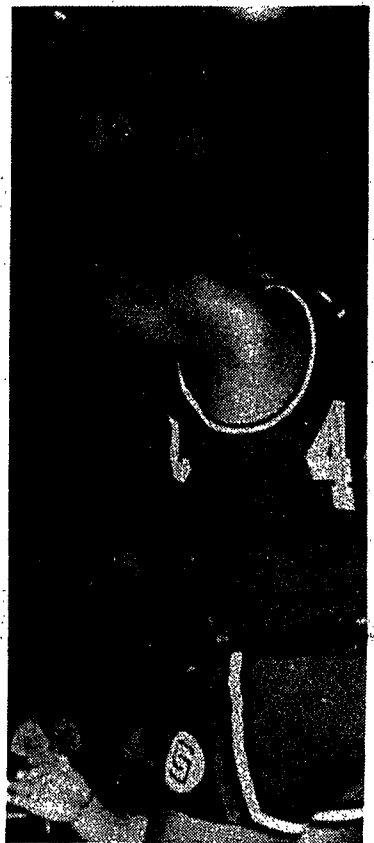

The first half was extremely close, with SSC ahead 22-21 at halftime. However, an explosive third quarter by the Rocks, in which they outscored Bay High 24-7, proved to be the difference in the contest.

Senior John Gross came off the bench to ignite the Rockachaws. Bay High got into foul trouble early, as the officials called an extremely close game.

Leading Bay High were F. Necaise with 15 points, followed by

Chad Matthews (52) drives for the layup on a fast break

Defensively, the Rockachaws managed to keep D'Iberville's big threat, forward Wilbert Calmes, off the boards. By allowing the Warriors usually only one shot at the goal, the Rocks controlled the tempo of the contest.

In a big third quarter, the Rocks outscored the Warriors 21 to 8, to insure the win. Solid inside play by Alexander and Garrett helped the Rocks pull away from the visiting Warriors.

Coach Genin emptied his bench in the fourth quarter, with all team members getting some playing time. This convincing district win puts the Rocks with a 3-1 district worksheet in the hat of the competition.

Thursday evening the Rocks

Brian Alexander (33) shoots from the foul line for two points.

Micah Necaise with eight points. The Tigers dropped to 3-9 for the season, after two successive victories before the Christmas holidays.

The Tigers are an extremely young squad, with many sophomores and juniors starting. Coach Michael Ladner has done a fine job in getting his troupes ready to play tough, competitive basketball.

Bay High hit 17 of 25 foul shots in the game for a 68 percent average, while the Rocks hit 14 of 25 for a 56 percent average.

When Necaise and Elzy fouled out early in the fourth quarter, the Tigers could not stay with the Rocks, as the game ended 59-43 in favor of SSC.

Leading the Rockachaw attack were John Gross with 12 points, Joe Lee with 10 points, Brian Alexander and Yasin Shabazz with nine points, and Jerry Fackrell with eight points. Good defensive play and hustle by Fackrell accounted for several turnovers.

"We exploded in the third quarter to break the game open," said Coach Genin. "We played good defense and had a powerful offense. Since Bay High got into foul trouble early, we decided to take the ball inside. I was pleased with the fact that we had balanced scoring from eight of our players."

The Rockachaws resume action at Picayune Tournament over the weekend.

Delta wetlands

State can create habitat for ducks

By Patty Drapala
Cooperative Extension Service
Mississippi can attract migrating and wintering ducks for hunting and viewing by managing wetlands it has and crating new ones on idle farmland.

Several hundred thousand ducks and coots (black waterbirds) make Mississippi their winter home, seeking the wetlands of the Delta and other marshlands. Most numerous among the winged visitors are mallards, pintails, teal and diving ducks. Playing hosts are wood ducks, native to the state.

"Ducks are important game birds," said Dr. Richard Kaminski, associate professor of wildlife at Mississippi State University. "Much money is spent each year here in hunting waterfowl, and many people just enjoy seeing them."

Enticing more ducks to fly to Mississippi wetlands provides hunters a continual supply of game. Nature lovers have more chances of seeing ducks if more ducks are here. And the ideal place to provide more sanctuary is the Delta.

"With cropland being sold or foreclosed there, the opportunities are rich to provide habitat for the ducks by managing available land," said Dr. Ed Jones, wildlife and fisheries specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Mallards and wood ducks have migrated to the Delta because the flatlands there were once covered with hardwood trees, and the combination of the Mississippi River and the hardwoods formed a wet bottomland. These bottomlands provided ducks with a balanced diet of acorns, plant seed and insects as well as shelter from predators and cold winds.

Only 4 million of the original 25 million acres of hardwood bottomlands remain in the Delta today, and the ducks and other waterfowl have had to adapt over time to new terrain. While the acres of soybeans, rice and grain sorghum provide ducks some food, they do not complete the nutritional needs of the diet.

Bureau slates wild horse adoption

In response to the tremendous interest in the Adopt-A-Horse Program expressed by the people of Mississippi, the United States government is returning to Canton for another wild horse adoption event.

A temporary adoption center will be set up Feb. 11 through 14 at the Mid-Mississippi Livestock Yard in Canton.

Several truckloads of wild horses from the West will be available to qualified individuals who agree to give them good homes. Adoption fees are $125 for each horse.

The horses are part of the government's Adopt-A-Horse program operated by the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management (BLM). A few weeks ago, they were roaming the wilds of Nevada and other western areas, trying to eke out a meager existence on overpopulated rangelands. And that overpopulation problem is why the Adopt-A-Horse program was established. Through this unique effort, excess wild horses and burros are humanely captured and offered to caring individuals.

Most wild horses are found in Nevada, Wyoming, California and eastern Oregon, and are believed to have descended from the Spanish and Moroccan horses brought to America by the Spaniards in the early 16th century. Other horses lost or released by Indians, the cavalry, early western settlers and ranchers have been added to the wild stocks. Horses are not native animals of North America.

Prior to the late 1950's, wild horses were preyed on by the "mustangers," men who made their livings by catching the horses and selling them to be canned for dogfood.

Laws were passed to prohibit use of motorized vehicles in capturing wild horses, and in 1971, the Wild Free-Roaming Horse and Burro Act was passed which added additional protection and placed the bulk of the wild ones under BLM management.

Under Federal protection, the wild herds increased rapidly and this brought on another problem. Wild horses and burros had to compete for limited forage and water with native wildlife and domestic livestock that also graze public lands. BLM then initiated the Adopt-A-Horse program and through it have found homes for more than 70,000 excess animals in trying to bring ing the herds down to viable and healthy management levels.

But this has to be an ongoing program because the rate of reproduction is such that thousands of horses must be removed each year in order to prevent serious harm to the range and to the herds themselves.

Before shipping, every animal rounded up by BLM is thoroughly checked by a veterinarian, Coggins tested, and vaccinated for various equine disorders. People who promise to give good homes to the mustangs may apply for as many as four.

Potential adopters basically need to have only certain facilities for sheltering and caring for the animals. These include a covered shelter and a corral of adequate dimensions and material. Application forms and additional information are available by calling the U.S. Bureau of Land Management in Jackson at (601) 965-4405.

Those who obtain adoption forms and apply in advance will be assured a better selection of animals, but "Walk-up" applications will also be acceptable as long as animals are available. With care and patience, wild horses can be tamed and used for riding, farmwork, showing, or other non-commercial purposes. They require adequate shelter and corral space with sturdy fencing.

The adoption fee helps recover some of the Federal Government's costs of roundup, veterinary care, transportation, and administrative expenses. For at least twelve months following the adoption, the animal remains U.S. Government property. After that, if the animal has been cared for humanely, the adopter receives title from BLM.

The Mississippi adoption event hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, and 8:30 a.m. to noon on Sunday.

To get to the livestock yard, drive approximately 15 miles north of Jackson on Interstate 55. Take the first Canton exit (exit 119, for State Route 22), and turn left (head west) on State Route 22. Continue about 2 miles along Rt. 22 until reaching the livestock yard, which is on the left and visible from the road.

Application forms and additional information are available by calling the U.S. Bureau of Land Management in Jackson at (601) 965-4405, or by calling the Federal Information Center in Atlanta at (404) 331-6891.

Stone crabs studied for potential profits

Two biologists at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs have received funding from the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium for a study on the effects of various environmental factors on stone crabs in the Gulf of Mexico.

Harriet Perry and Christine Trigg of the GCRL Fisheries Research and Development Section have received a $8,719 grant for the one-year project, which includes $5,382 in in-kind support from the Laboratory. They will be collaborating in the research effort with Dr. Raymond P. Henry, assistant professor in the Department of Zoology and Wildlife Services at Auburn University.

The researchers will gather data on the reputed physiological differences in various types of stone crabs and will examine the potential impact that physiological adaptations and limitations might have on managing stone crab fisheries.

Temperature and salinity are known to affect growth, survival, abundance and distribution of coastal marine life, so tests will be conducted to establish criteria for optimal stone crab growth and survival.

Interest in the stone crab fishery, which is well-established in Florida, is growing in Mississippi and the north central Gulf of Mexico region. Stone crabs were rarely caught in Mississippi waters until about six years ago, when they began to increase in abundance. Their claws generally sell for $5 to $9 per pound.

Bay High teams to host Hawks in basketball games Friday

The Bay High Tigers and Tigerettes will entertain county rival Hancock North Central Friday in the Tiger Dome.

A junior varsity boys game will begin at 5 p.m. followed by the girls contest at 6:30 with the varsity boys contest beginning at 8.

The Tigers and Tigerettes, although not having impressive records, are showing improvement game to game, according to Coach Michael Ladner.

"We have not been able to break the win column that much so far this year but it's due more to lack of experience and youth than any other factor," he said.

Except for one or two games the records with the boys or girls in no way reflect their effort, Ladner said.

"The effort and attitudes are good, the experience will come game to game, practice to practice.

"Our inexperience shows at different times. We beat a ball club in Ocean Springs with eight seniors who have played together for six years, but followed that tremendous effort with losses to St. Stanislaus and Long Beach because we did not execute the way we did in our three consecutive wins over PRC, Pass High and Ocean Springs.

Tuesday the Bay High teams dropped three games to the Long Beach Bearcats. The boys fell 66-55, the girls 57-48 and the junior varsity boys 58-35.

The boys contest was close throughout the game with the Tigers having many chances to pull out a victory over a Long Beach club with nine seniors.

The Tigers were led by Micah Necaise with 17 points, Cedric Walker followed with 16 points and eight rebounds, and Freddie Necaise added 11 points and eight rebounds.

Long Beach was led with a tremendous effort by senior Chris Bartman with 28 points and seven steals with John Watson adding 14 points and nine rebounds and Daryl Gardner putting in 15 points.

In the girls contest Sharon Lyons was a one-woman show scoring 43 of Long Beach's 57 points. She also pulled down 17 rebounds.

The Tigerettes were led by Stacey Sheppard with 20 points, Tunisa McKay added nine points and a tremendous rebounding effort with 16. Lawanika Williams added eight points.

The Tigerettes also played a tremendous defensive game, according to Coach Ladner.

"The girls are playing very good defense in the past few games.

"I told them we are going to play man-to-man throughout the remainder of the year and push the ball up the floor and score more fast break buckets.

"They are responding to the challenge.

"With no seniors on this club, I see the potential to be a very good ball club," he said.

In the junior varsity game Bay High was led by David Weems with 10 points and Eddie Skonahan with nine points.

Long Beach's Sammie May had 16 points.

On Jan. 7 Bay High traveled to Picayune for the Picayune invitational tournament to take on St. Stanislaus in the boys contest and Picayune in the girls contest.

Bay High dropped the boys game 59-43 and the girls contest 53-37.

Bay High was led by Freddie Necaise with 15 points and 13 rebounds and Micah Necaise with eight points.

St. Stanislaus was led by Joe Lee and John Gross with 10 and 12 points.

In the girls contest Bay High was led by Dee Dee McGowan's 14 points and five steals with Tunisa putting in eight points and eight rebounds.

Picayune was led by Kristi Mitchell with 15 points.

Coach Ladner summed up the contest saying, "The girls played hard and played one of their best games following the Ocean Springs game in which we played terrible.

"Dee Dee gave a tremendous defensive effort to go along with her 14 points.

"The boys contest was not a typical Bay High-SSC contest.

"Coach Chuck Genin of SSC and I could not agree at half time who was playing worse; we did a good job convincing him we were the second half.

"I can attribute it to two things, our inexperience and Coach Genin's doing a good coaching job getting his kids to do what they needed to do to beat us. They deserve credit for the victory."

Before the SSC contest the Tigers put together three victories against PRC, Pass High and Ocean Springs with the victory against Ocean Springs being the best game thus far this season for the inexperienced Tigers.

Coach Ladner stated, "We played as good against Ocean Springs as we have played or I could expect this team to play at this point in the season playing the experienced ball clubs we are playing."

In the boys contest Bay High's Ronald Elzy with 19 points, Cedric Walker 13 points, seven rebounds, Freddie Necaise with 10 points and nine rebounds while Micah Necaise and Henda Michel added eight points.

Ocean Springs was led by Wayne

Driver with 28 points and Skip Bond with 13.

In the girls' contest Bay High was led by Tunisa McKay with four points and four rebounds while Ocean Springs was led by Penny Galloway with 21 points and Chrissie Robertson with 19 points.

Episcopal Raiders edged in conference cage play

Coast Episcopal High School Raiders fell to 1-2 in conference basketball play after a defeat by Life Academy of New Orleans.

The Raiders stormed back from an 11-point deficit at the beginning of the 4th quarter to close to a one-point deficit with only two minutes to play.

Strong defense by guards, senior Chris Riggs and Sophomore Billy Guive, plus aggressive rebounding by senior Todd Purcell and junior Sterling Thibodeaux, contributed to the Raiders' comeback.

In the closing minutes of the game, the Raiders were unable to convert one and one chances, allowing Life Academy to enjoy a 37-34 victory.

The Raiders' next home game is Jan. 15 against Riverside Academy of New Orleans at the CEHS gym on Esplanade Avenue. Tip-off time for the Lady Raiders is 1 p.m. and for the boys' game, 2 p.m.

Hawaiian bass tourney to include Mississippi fisherman

Dr. Charles Purifoy of Greenwood has qualified to compete in Operation Bass' Red Man Tournament of Champions to be held on the Wahiawa Reservoir on Oahu, Hawaii, Jan. 20-21.

Purifoy is one of 20 anglers—one from each Red Man Division—in the nation to qualify for the unique first-year tournament that marks the first time a national bass fishing event has been held outside of the continental United States.

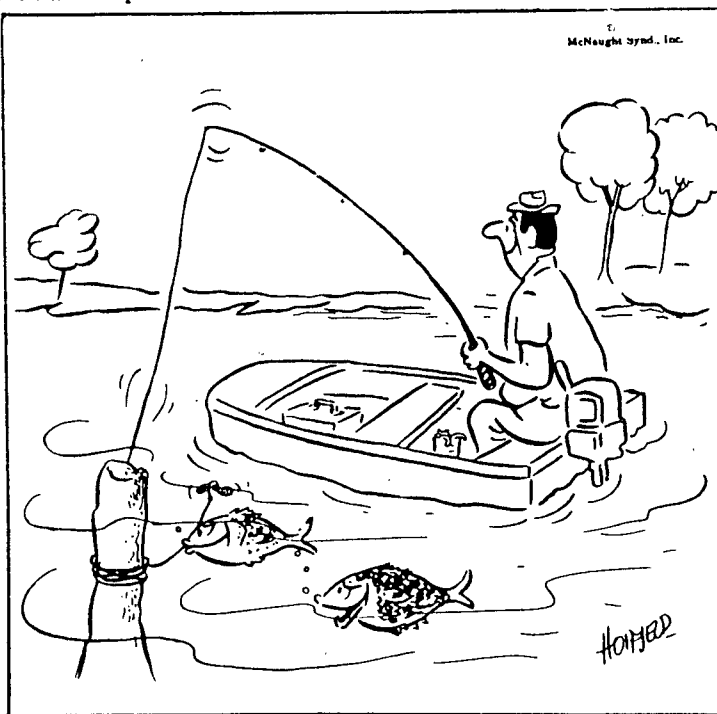

Purifoy qualified for the Red Man Tournament of Champions in the Mississippi Division of the Red Man Tournament Trail. After six qualifying events, Purifoy amassed 191.50 points to earn a berth in the all-expense-paid, exotic, week-long trip for two.

The tournament winner will be determined by the highest accumulated weight for the two days of fishing. First place in the event features a fully-rigged Ranger bass boat powered by an Evinrude XP-150.

The rig also includes GNB batteries, Humminbird depth sounders, and an Evinrude 12/24 electric trolling motor, all valued at $20,000.

A total purse of $40,000 will be awarded to competitors.

"Wrap it around one more time, Charlie."

The onion was worshipped in ancient Egypt and regarded by the Romans as a God who guarded the kitchen and guided the healing of battle wounds and skin diseases.

A Kid's First Game

By Bert Randolph Sugar
PM EDITORIAL SERVICES

Remember taking your kid to his first ballgame? Bargain-basement psychiatrists tell us it's a rite of passage. But for most of us it's something that just has to be done, one of nature's rules, as unexplainable as losing one sock in the dryer.

A few years back, my then-young son came to me with the startling announcement that he would like to go to a football game. The problem was I had come to view my son as someone who stood halfway between an adult and a TV set, especially during football telecasts. For all I knew he thought the Buffalo Bills were some acts passed by Congress back in 19-aught-4. I mean, here was a kid who had blindly accepted my explanation that bowling was merely a game of marbles for grown-ups and now he wanted to go to a football game? A poke in the eye with a sharp stick seemed a preferable alternative.

The game I finally selected was a Giants-Cowboys game, not that I'm a fan of either team. Raised a Washington Redskins fan, the only reason I would dare go to such a game would be to keep my disgust for both teams fresh. Nevertheless, my son was excited about the prospect, and that's what counted.

After a set of instructions from his mother that would make any Rockne ever gave his Notre Dame team pale by comparison, Public Energy Number One was packed into the car for the long trek over to Giants Stadium. And almost before we got out of the driveway, he had begun his obligatory, "Are we there yet?" After 50 minutes, five traffic jams, and 25 more "Are we there yet?" we finally arrived at the stadium.

Less than five minutes into the game, he announced, in his best imitation of a loud speaker, that he had to go to the bathroom. And so we set out in search of one. Fifteen minutes — and one quarter — later, mission accomplished, we finally relocated our seats, only to find that my son also had a stomach. Off we went again, this time with my son leading the procession to the concession stand. Back by half time, he suddenly remembered he hadn't visited the souvenir stand. And so it was back again. By now I was getting the distinct impression that a stadium is a place where people with money to burn finally meet their match.

After two more side trips to the men's room and another to the concession stand, we finally resumed our seats. Just in time for the final four plays of the game.

Grantland Rice once said, "It mattered not who won the game." In any case, all that mattered was that I had taken my son to his first game, an act of charity that came with strings attached — my purse strings.

STATEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION

Coast Electric Power Association has filed with the Federal Government a Compliance Assurance in which it assures the Rural Electrification Administration that it will comply fully with all requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Agriculture thereunder, to the end that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination in the conduct of its program and the operation of its facilities. Under this assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants or the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and the Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, or the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C. 20250, or this organization, or all a written complaint. Such complaint must be filed not later than 180 days after the alleged discrimination, or by such later date to which the Secretary of Agriculture or the Rural Electrification Administration extends the time for filing. Identity of complaints will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations. 1-14-88

Now is Girl Scout cookie time

Jan. 8 marked the start of this year's Girl Scout Cookie sale. An American tradition that dates back to 1933, it's still the main fund-raiser for the Girl Scouts, one of America's finest youth groups.

Girl Scouts will be taking orders for cookies throughout January. Cookies will be delivered Feb. 19 through March 5. The price per box is still $2, with proceeds going to support troop activities, the Girl Scout 339 acre camp, and council-wide activities.

The very first Girl Scout cookies was a vanilla shortbread, baked in the shape of the Girl Scout insignia, the trefoil.

It's still a favorite, but over the years, alot more cookies have been added to the selection. This year the seven-variety selection includes the peanut butter sandwich Dosidos, vanilla centered Thin Mints, the favorite caramel coconut covered Samoa, the peanut butter pattie Tagalong, Chocolate Chunks, and the newest sandwich cream cookie Echo.

South Mississippi's fifteen counties are served by the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council, a United Way agency. In 1987 328,200 boxes of cookies were sold by local Girl Scouts with troops earning over $99,000.

With their proceeds local troops enjoyed special field trips such as the New Orleans Zoo Cruise or camping on the USS Alabama. They also purchased troop camping equipment and activity supplies. The troop proceeds even extended to help the community as Girl Scout troops helped others with projects for hospitals, churches, organizations for the needy, and beautification programs.

For information on the Girl Scout cookie sale in the Stone County area call the Girl Scout cookie representative, phone 928-5177.

Teachers union aids Scouts in earning labor merit badge

The Mississippi American Federation of Teachers/Teacher Center has compiled materials designed to assist boy scouts in earning a merit badge in labor.

"During September 1987, the Boy Scouts of America released six new merit badges," said Maryann Graczyk, President of the AFL-CIO affiliated Mississippi American Federation of Teachers, "and one of these is on American Labor."

"The new merit badge," according to Graczyk, "challenges a scout to learn the history and purpose of the American union movement."

The MAFT Teacher Center compiled the packet of material in response to inquiries for information.

"Scouts have to meet ten requirements to earn the badge," said Graczyk. "Since we are a union of educators it was natural for them to contact us and we are pleased to be able to help."

The packet is being offered free of charge to any boy scout working on the American Labor merit badge. To get the packet of materials, the boy

Reception honoring Olon Ray planned

The public is invited to attend an appreciation ceremony and reception for former Biloxi Superintendent Olon E. Ray on Friday, Jan. 29 at 6 p.m. in the banquet hall of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum Convention Center.

Biloxi school staff and citizens of Biloxi are sponsoring the event to honor Ray, who resigned as superintendent on Jan. 12 to accept the post of education assistant to Mississippi Governor Ray Mabus.

The ceremony will include remarks from Mabus, local officials and civic leaders, and Biloxi school staff and students.

Ray came to Biloxi in 1962 to teach history at Biloxi High School. He served as administrative assistant and assistant superintendent before being appointed superintendent in 1975.

During his years in Biloxi, Ray became a leading force for educational reform in Mississippi. He served as chairman of the state's Performance-Based Accreditation Task Force in 1983-84; chairman of the Hardin Task Force for Educational Excellence in 1983; and member of the Governor's School Finance Study Council in 1978-79.

Ray has held numerous offices and advisory positions for the Mississippi Association of School Administrators, the Mississippi Association of School Superintendents, and the Council of Public School Systems. He is, or has been an officer, of the Harrison County Heart Association, Mississippi Lions Council of Governors, Mississippi Parole Board, Gulf Coast Arts Council, Mississippi Economic Council, Biloxi Chamber of Commerce, Harrison County United Way, Gulf Coast Opera Theatre, Ole Miss Alumni Association, and Salvation Army.

Ray's personal and professional awards include University of Southern Mississippi's Community Education Award, 1982; Mississippi Library Association's Ed Ransdell Award, 1984; Harrison County United Way's Leadership Award, 1970-71; Biloxi Jaycees' Outstanding Young man of Biloxi in 1972.

Scholars honored

The 1987 Higginbotham Presidential Scholarships have been awarded to 20 students at Southwestern Seminary.

Scholarship recipients attended Southern Baptist colleges where they were the highest ranking 1986 graduates planning to attend seminary. Among this year's recipients is Scott Hummel of Carriere.

Scholarships are named for Sybil and Rufus Higginbotham of Dallas. They endowed the program in 1983. Southwestern Seminary is one of six graduate-level theology schools affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention.

Pass to elect school board member

An election to name one trustee for a full five-year term to represent the school district territory which is outside the corporate or city limits of Pass Christian, but part of the school district, is Saturday, March 5.

Candidates have until Jan. 25 to qualify for the March 5 election.

To be eligible for the office of trustee, a person must be a bonafide resident and a qualified elector of the added territory in the school district which is outside the corporate city limits.

In addition, the person must file with the superintendent of the Pass Christian Public School District at 701 West North Street, Pass Christian, a petition to run signed by not less than 25 qualified electors who are bonafide residents of the area represented by the office which the candidate seeks, and an affidavit by the candidate stating the candidate's qualifications.

Petition forms and copies of Mississippi school board election laws are available in the office of the superintendent.

PRC students volunteer for important test

Pearl River College students volunteered to take a test recently. This "test" was not to establish their knowledge of American history, literature, or basic accounting—it tested their ability to do without cigarettes for one 24-hour period.

These students were among the millions of American smokers who participated in the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout.

The society sponsors the Great American Smokeout each year on the third Thursday in November to encourage smokers to test their will power for just one day.

This year marked the 11th annual Smokeout celebration. Last year almost 24 million smokers quit or cut down for the day. This year the Mississippi Association of Student Nurses (MASN) and SPARC (Students Publicizing Activities on the River Campus) co-sponsored the event of the PRC campus.

"We knew students wouldn't be too crazy about anything remotely resembling a test," said Ann Donnell, campus Smokeout coordinator. "That's why we planned some fun activities to get everybody into the spirit of the thing," Donnell said.

Some of the activities planned throughout the day included handing out survival kits and Smokeout pins.

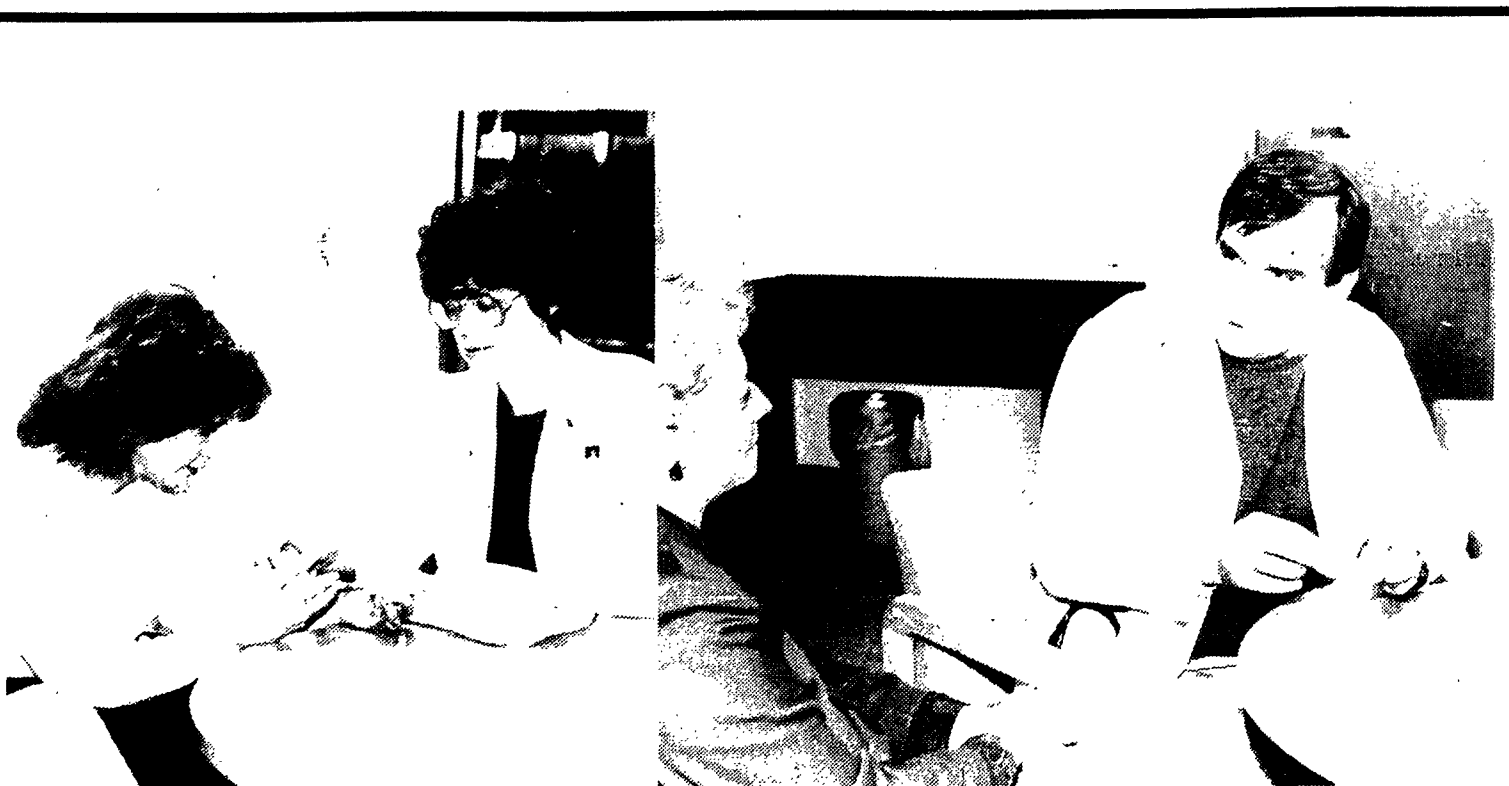

At noon there was a drawing for Smokeout T-shirts. Student nurses were on hand to give blood pressure tests, counseling and moral support.

"The best news is...nobody failed. Making any attempt to quit made that individual a Smokeout winner," Donnell said. "Anybody who tried got an A for effort...and those making it the whole day received a definite A+."

The Smokeout was for everyone—students, faculty, smokers, nonsmokers, and even "smokeless" tobacco users.

"We had a good participation. Even those who didn't smoke or had already quit, adopted a friend and helped them get through the day," said Donnell.

Campus Smokeout planners were especially interested in encouraging "smokeless" tobacco users to join their moratorium. "Unfortunately, many young people consider snuff and chewing tobacco safe alternatives to cigarettes...and that's just not the case," Donnell said. "No matter what your habit was...the Great American Smokeout was your opportunity to pass it up."

DIABETES

Living with it takes a lifetime of care. Proper nutrition, regular exercise, carefully administered medications. It's a regimen vitally important to the thousands of diabetics in St. Tammany Parish.

At Slidell Memorial Hospital, we offer a full range of educational and medical programs to aid diabetics north of the Lake. Nutritional counseling. Individually-tailored exercise programs. Educational classes. Consultations on your medications. And a special diabetic program at Slidell Memorial Hospital with physicians who know and care about your special problem.

Call our special Diabetic instructor, Anne Thomas, at 501-649-8555 Slidell Memorial Hospital for more information about our programs for diabetes.

Coast Episcopal's ring ceremony involves juniors, seniors

COAST EPISCOPAL High School Headmaster Dr. Thomas E. Bates presents a class ring to Tracy Dillstone, junior class vice-president. Assisting are Reverend Bronson Bryant, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church and Billy Guice, who served as crucifer.

Coast Episcopal High School presented class rings to members of the junior class at a ceremony held recently at Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian.

Members of the Coast Episcopal High School senior class had their rings blessed at the same ceremony.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Reverend Charles Johnson, founder of Coast Episcopal Schools; Reverend Bronson Bryant, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, and Dr. Thomas E. Bates, headmaster of Coast Episcopal Schools.

Student Council president, senior Susannah Shellnut, welcomed the students and their parents. Lessons from the Bible were read by junior Malise Marchal, Student Council treasurer; and junior Rusty Roper, Student Council vice president.

Junior Class president Arthur Grant expressed the feeling of the class as he spoke on the significance of the class ring and, in the years to come, the memories it will stimulate.

Members of the Student Council participating in the ceremony were torchbearers, sophomore Ginny Edwards and eight grader Blair Shellnut; crucifer, sophomore Billy Guice; ushers, freshmen Laura Taylor and Candace Payne and seventh graders Mark Catron and Ellen McRaney.

Juniors receiving their Class of 1989 rings were Sean Bell, Rusty Roper, Paul Westervelt, Sterling Thibodeaux, Justin Taylor, Rea

Veteran educator: Students a positive force for change in society

RESTON, Va.—In his more than 20 years in education, Dr. Robert Binswanger has worked for a number of universities, the U.S. Office of Education, the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Japanese Ministry of Education. Today he's doing what he likes best.

Currently serving as headmaster of the Boston Latin Academy, Binswanger believes "of all the areas of education, the one that offers the greatest personal and professional rewards to me is the secondary school."

He offered his thoughts in an interview published in a recent monthly journal of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

"It's (secondary school years) a time of tremendous fragility for youngsters growing up," reported Binswanger. "It's a time of tremendous change in their lives—their physical lives, their intellectual lives, their views of themselves. It's also an important learning period, a time to determine not only who they are and what they want to be, but how they can get there; and it's an exciting time in terms of preparing for what the world is going to be like in the 21st century."

Binswanger, who became headmaster of Boston Latin Academy in 1983, believes that many people are crucial to the success of a school, especially principals and teachers.

"As I see it, the principal's role is to be able to take the best from the student body, take the best from the faculty, and keep pushing them to make the best better," he contended in the interview.

He does not believe that people without teaching experience should be appointed to lead schools.

"I don't believe American education will grow if schools are led by managers," he indicated. "I believe teaching is an art and an extremely difficult profession. I think it is absolutely critical for a headmaster or principal to understand the teaching role, to have had the teaching experience, and to advocate its importance."

The veteran educator also feels that students in American schools are achieving more than many people realize.

"First, I think schools in general take a bum rap. Schools make the news when something goes wrong, when somebody gets hurt, when there's some kind of crisis situation. The good students, the good young people, who are in the majority of our schools, are invisible. They are not seen by the general public. And therefore, the general public concludes that something negative has happened to young people in America."

The veteran educator thinks that not only are there talented students in the schools, but that they are contributing to their communities.

"I'm encouraged by the fact that they are a positive force for change and good in the society," he stated.

"I'm impressed with the number of volunteer hours that young people give to a variety of activities in all parts of the country. They work with the elderly; they work with the handicapped; they work with young people; they work at hospitals. They do it because they care."

ARM AND SHOULDER PAIN

Neck strain from poor posture, or from an accident of some kind, can result in a variety of shoulder, arm or hand problems, with accompanying pain. The cause is often an irritation or "pinching" of the large nerves in the neck as they leave the spine and extend into the extremities. An understanding of these conditions can help you avoid problems and suffering.

Art Classes

Oil painting classes are offered at the Bay St. Louis Senior Citizens Center each Monday and Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Carl Baldenhofer, a Retired Senior Program volunteer, conducts the class. Interested seniors may secure further information by contacting the Hancock County Art Association, 255-3562 or the RSVP office, 467-9294.

Money Management

The Consumer Money Management Center serves the public by providing free financial consultations as well as informational literature and seminars for employers, educational institutions and civic and professional groups.

Information and assistance from the center relates to various aspects of personal money management including budgeting, credit repayment, insurance, and investments. The service is sponsored by Mississippi State University and Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. To set up an appointment call Hancock County Extension Office, 467-5456.

St. Vincent de Paul Society

Waveland Conference, St. Vincent de Paul Society operates a thrift store, Waveland Civic Center, Coleman Avenue, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Proceeds benefit needy regardless of race or religion.

In addition, the conference operates an information and referral service for persons in need of assistance not immediately available from the society, 10 a.m. to noon Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Civic Center, 467-0703.

Seniors Center

Located in the Valena C. Jones Bldg. at 301 Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis, the Center serves Hancock County citizens 60 plus years of age.

Under the Hancock County Human Resource Agency, the Center provides classes in ceramics, macrame, art, quilting, counted cross stitch, silk flowers, Christmas ornaments, framing, wood working and various other crafts. A morning snack is provided with donations from various clubs and businesses.

The Center has a contract to provide 30 home delivered meals a day to those seniors who cannot provide for themselves, and 35 meals for those who have a need for a hot, well-balanced meal daily in the cafeteria at the Center.

Transportation is provided through a contract with Coast Area Transportation for most seniors in the county to bring them into the Center, or to take them to the grocery, doctor, etc.

The contract with Methodist Senior Services provides two homemakers for about two hours a week to homebound, needy seniors to do light housekeeping or errands for them.

For more information, call the Center at 467-9292 from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Senior Citizen Jobs

Seniors Job Registry, Russell Youth Court Building, 126 Court St., Bay St. Louis offers placement services to employees and employers.

The registry is a free community service provided by National Council of Senior Citizens Senior Aides Program funded by the Department of Labor through South Mississippi Planning and Development District.

The registry attempts to place seniors 55-years-old or older in hourly, daily, weekly or monthly positions, according to Gertrude Sauer, coordinator. Call 467-7945 for additional information. Office hours are 9 a.m. to noon Mondays through Fridays.

Two UNO orientation programs planned

Two University of New Orleans orientation programs, one for night students and one for parents of new students admitted for the spring semester, will be held, Thursday, Jan. 14, at UNO.

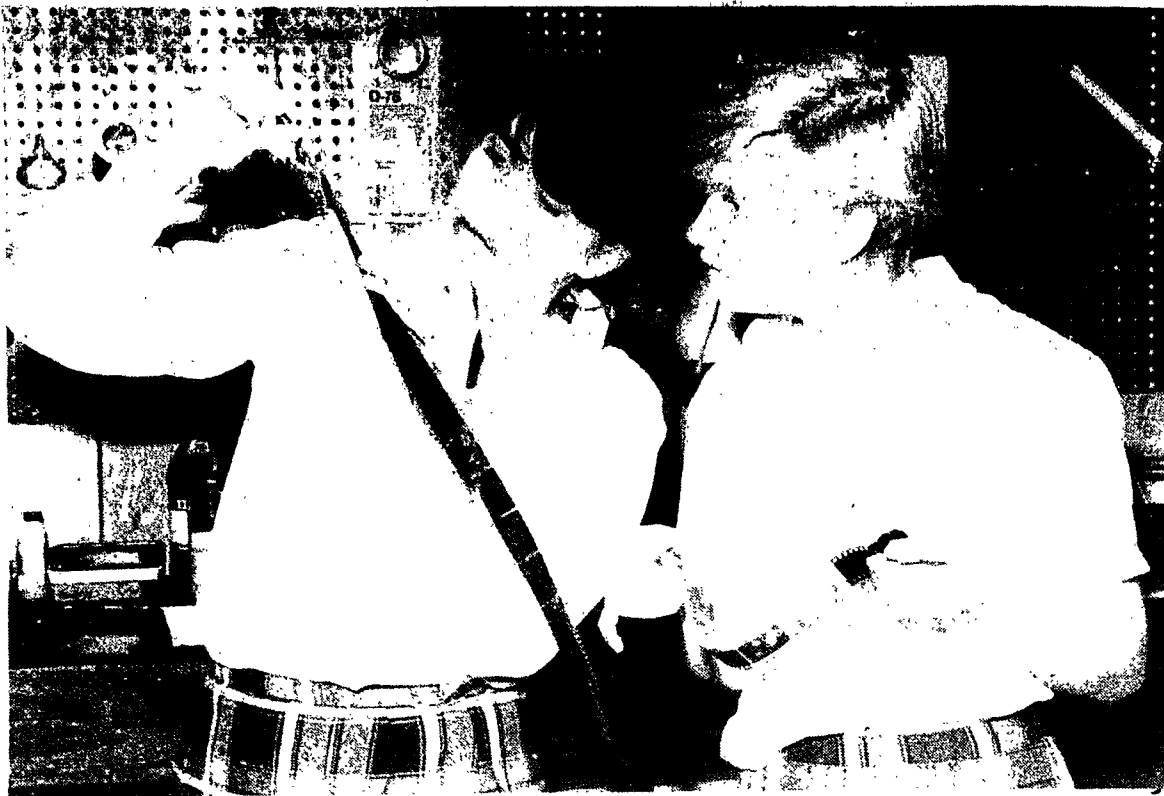

Parent orientation will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Business building, room 211, and will offer the opportunity for parents and other family members to receive information concerning university policies and student services. Several UNO faculty and staff members will be on hand to answer questions and provide information on UNO's Parents Association.

The program is free and reservations are not required. Night student orientation will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. in room 179 of the Business building. This is for new students who plan to attend classes only during the evening and/or on weekends. A $2 fee will be collected at the door.

For additional information on either program contact the UNO Office of Recruiting and School Relations at 286-6601.

Coast Episcopal selects Spinks for O'Brien event

Coast Episcopal High School has announced the selection of Phillip Spinks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spinks of Gulfport as ambassador to the state Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar to be held in the spring.

Spinks is vice-president of the sophomore class, art editor of the yearbook and the Coast Quarterly, the school's literary magazine.

He is a member of Mu Alpha Theta, the National Honor Society and the Society of Distinguished American High School Students.

He won first place in the 1987

Regional Science Fair in botany. Spinks is a member of the Coast Episcopal football and track teams and is a certified Scuba diver. He is an Eagle Scout and a junior deacon.

The Hobby Seminar helps motivate, train and reward future leaders. Only one sophomore is eligible from each school.

Seminars are held in each of the fifty states, and one delegate is selected from each state to attend an International Leadership Seminar held during July in St. Louis, Missouri.

MATH/SCIENCE SCHOOL

Students interested in applying for admission to the Mississippi School for Math and Science will have an extra few weeks in which to complete the application process. Johnny Franklin, school director, says the deadline for applications has been extended from February 19 to March 31.

Franklin says the extension results from a State Department of Education effort to allow prospective students additional time to take the required standardized tests. A special administration of one such test was scheduled by the SDE for Jan. 9.

Franklin says there have been a significant number of applications from across the state. "So far, we have had students from approximately 60 different counties apply for admission to the school. We hope this extension allows even more students an opportunity to apply."

For more information on the Mississippi School for Math and Science, call 1-800-533-6459, or write to the school at P. O. Box W-1627, Columbus, MS 39701.

"RAPUNZEL, RAPUNZEL"—Let down your hair," Bear Facts tells Kelly Turtle, the stars of the new Mississippi ETV series for kindergarten children, "The Magic Place." The two puppets are trying their hand at acting when "Fun Places to Visit," one of the 15 15-minute lessons, explores theaters, ballets, museums and other cultural institutions and events. "The Magic Place," which also stars Sherry Lynn Elkins as Miss Mystery, will premiere on Mississippi ETV at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, Jan. 27. Each program will air at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, and will be rebroadcast at 8:45 a.m., Thursdays. "The Magic Place" offers exciting surprises and learning opportunities for five-year-olds which help to prepare them for the first grade and thereafter.

County continues delay on Corps study funds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors will wait for the results of borings taken from the floor of the Mississippi Sound before deciding whether to continue funding a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers shore protection study.

BOB MARTIN

After discussing the matter with Corps Representative Bob Martin, the board found that the study would be more expensive than originally anticipated.

The study was initiated in Fiscal Year 1987 to try to determine the best method of protecting the Hancock County shoreline and Beach Road.

The county is participating on a 50-50 funding basis in hopes that the results of the study can be used to obtain an estimated $12 million in grant funds that will be necessary to repair about eight miles of the county's 12-mile shoreline.

The county paid $77,000 for the first year of the study and had originally been asked to pay $86,000 for the second year, about $121,000 increased to about $138,000 by in-kind contributions by the end of fiscal year 1988.

On Friday, Martin told the board that the study will be more expensive than originally anticipated and that the board would be asked to pay additional monies that would raise their required balance by about $40,000.

"When we began to get the data together that we'd developed, we were not too comfortable with the numbers we got and the method we used to get them," Martin explained.

He told the board that he feels the cost-benefit ratio of the study is not as good as he had expected.

The cost-benefit ratio was requested by the supervisors when they delayed action on the second year's funding several months ago.

The Corps representative said the study had already produced "an excellent survey of the beach and road" and the accompanying drainage situation and that the drawings had already been provided to the county engineer.

However, he added that "several things happened that changed the conditions under which we're doing this."

Martin said it has been decided that the Hancock County project will have to be based partially on previous storm damage and will have to include provisions for likelihood of additional damage, which is not usually included in such a study.

The Corps' Coastal Engineering Research Center in its Vicksburg District has therefore been asked to assist with the study.

That assistance will enable the Corps to provide a better structural design for a potential beach repair project, Martin explained.

At a previous meeting, the board had discussed the problem of where to obtain a proper grade of sand for beach replenishment. An existing analysis on the matter could not be found, Martin explained.

The board agreed Friday to add $20,000 to $20,000 already in a project account that is being administered by Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

The $40,000 is expected to cover the cost of offshore boring to see if the proper grade of sand can be obtained from the floor of the Mississippi Sound.

Martin said he feels the $40,000 will cover the borings and that to go on with the study while delaying the borings would result in a need to based cost figures on the "assumption" that the proper grade of sand is available locally.

He said the most recent test

available are from 1966.

In addition, he added that to continue the study beyond that point would require an additional 18 months for completion.

He also explained to the supervisors that to do such a study with a private contractor would be much more expensive and that Corps approval would still be necessary to obtain federal funds.

Board President Ronald Cuevas

said the supervisors will take another look at continuing the study once the boring results are available, but added that if the study is continued, the process will still be a long-term commitment because applying for funding will take about two years.

The board meets again Jan. 29 at 9 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse, but is not expected to discuss the study on that date.

Concerned Citizens to host alternative school meeting

BY DENA BISNETTE
Hancock County Concerned Citizens will ask local officials Tuesday to provide educational facilities for students who have dropped out of or been expelled from traditional schools.

Concerned Citizens President Geraldine Lang said her organization will host a meeting about the matter at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Hancock County Youth Court building.

Other public officials being invited include Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, Bay Waveland Superintendent of Education Roger Oge and School

Board President Betty Diboll, Truant Officer Frank McNeill, Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. and Bay St. Louis Major Victor Frankiewicz Jr.

In addition, State Representative J.P. Compretta has agreed to provide assistance if the group decides to pursue some action that would require legislation.

"The main issue we want to address is to keep these children off the streets," Lang said.

She explained that Concerned Citizens became aware of the problem when asked to look into a matter regarding a student expelled from school.

She said she personally would prefer to see some sort of alternative school provided for expelled students and students who drop out of regular institutions, rather than a home study course.

She also said emphasis should be placed on a regular high school diploma and not a GED.

Lang is currently in the process of doing research on an alternative school program being used in St. Louis, Mo., to see if a similar project would be appropriate for Hancock County.

She added that she hopes such a move will deter the development of an ALTERNATIVE - Page 1A

County continues delay on Corps study funds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors will wait for the results of borings taken from the floor of the Mississippi Sound before deciding whether to continue funding a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers shore protection study.

BOB MARTIN

After discussing the matter with Corps Representative Bob Martin, the board found that the study would be more expensive than originally anticipated.

The study was initiated in Fiscal Year 1987 to try to determine the best method of protecting the Hancock County shoreline and Beach Road.

The county is participating on a 50-50 funding basis in hopes that the results of the study can be used to obtain an estimated $12 million in grant funds that will be necessary to repair about eight miles of the county's 12-mile shoreline.

The county paid $77,000 for the first year of the study and had originally been asked to pay $66,000 for the second year, about $121,000 increased to about $138,000 by in-kind contributions by the end of fiscal year 1988.

On Friday, Martin told the board that the study will be more expensive than originally anticipated and that the board would be asked to pay additional monies that would raise their required balance by about $40,000.

"When we began to get the data together that we'd developed, we were not too comfortable with the numbers we got and the method we used to get them," Martin explained.

He told the board that he feels the cost-benefit ratio of the study is not as good as he had expected. The cost-benefit ratio was requested by the supervisors when they delayed action on the second year's funding several months ago.

The Corps representative said the study had already produced "an excellent survey of the beach and road" and the accompanying drainage situation and that the drawings had already been provided to the county engineer.

However, he added that "several things happened that changed the conditions under which we're doing this."

Martin said it has been decided that the Hancock County project will have to be based partially on previous storm damage and will have to include provisions for likelihood of additional damage, which is not usually included in such a study.

The Corps' Coastal Engineering Research Center in its Vicksburg District has therefore been asked to assist with the study.

That assistance will enable the Corps to provide a better structural design for a potential beach repair project, Martin explained.

At a previous meeting, the board had discussed the problem of where to obtain a proper grade of sand for beach replenishment. An existing analysis on the matter could not be found, Martin explained.

The board agreed Friday to add $20,000 to the $20,000 already in project account that is being administered by Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

The $40,000 is expected to cover the cost of offshore boring to see if the proper grade of sand can be obtained from the floor of the Mississippi Sound.

The board meets again Jan. 29 at 9 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse, but is not expected to discuss the study on that date.

County continues delay on Corps study funds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors will wait for the results of borings taken from the floor of the Mississippi Sound before deciding whether to continue funding a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers shore protection study.

BOB MARTIN

After discussing the matter with Corps Representative Bob Martin, the board found that the study would be more expensive than originally anticipated.

The study was initiated in Fiscal Year 1987 to try to determine the best method of protecting the Hancock County shoreline and Beach Road.

The county is participating on a 50-50 funding basis in hopes that the results of the study can be used to obtain an estimated $12 million in grant funds that will be necessary to repair about eight miles of the county's 12-mile shoreline.

The county paid $77,000 for the first year of the study and had originally been asked to pay $86,000 for the second year, about $121,000 increased to about $138,000 by in-kind contributions by the end of fiscal year 1988.

On Friday, Martin told the board that the study will be more expensive than originally anticipated and that the board would be asked to pay additional monies that would raise their required balance by about $40,000.

"When we began to get the data together that we'd developed, we were not too comfortable with the numbers we got and the method we used to get them," Martin explained.

He told the board that he feels the cost-benefit ratio of the study is not as good as he had expected.

He requested by the supervisors when they delayed action on the second year's funding several months ago.

The Corps representative said the study had already produced "an excellent survey of the beach and road" and the accompanying drainage situation and that the drawings had already been provided to the county engineer.

However, he added that "several things happened that changed the conditions under which we're doing this."

Martin said it has been decided that the Hancock County project will have to be based partially on previous storm damage and will have to include provisions for likelihood of additional damage, which is not usually included in such a study.

The Corps' Coastal Engineering Research Center in its Vicksburg District has therefore been asked to assist with the study.

That assistance will enable the Corps to provide a better structural design for a potential beach repair project, Martin explained.

At a previous meeting, the board had discussed the problem of where to obtain a proper grade of sand for beach replenishment. An existing analysis on the matter could not be found, Martin explained.

The board agreed Friday to add $20,000 to $20,000 already in a project account that is being administered by Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

The $40,000 is expected to cover the cost of offshore boring to see if the proper grade of sand can be obtained from the floor of the Mississippi Sound.

Martin said he feels the $40,000 will cover the borings and that to go on with the study while delaying the borings would result in a need to based cost figures on the "assumption" that the proper grade of sand is available locally.

He said the most recent test

available are from 1966.

In addition, he added that to continue the study beyond that point would require an additional 18 months for completion.

He also explained to the supervisors that to do such a study with a private contractor would be much more expensive and that Corps approval would still be necessary to obtain federal funds.

Board President Ronald Cuevas

said the supervisors will take another look at continuing the study once the boring results are available, but added that if the study is continued, the process will still be a long-term commitment because applying for funding will take about two years.

The board meets again Jan. 29 at 9 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse, but is not expected to discuss the study on that date.

Concerned Citizens to host alternative school meeting

BY DENA BISNETTE
Hancock County Concerned Citizens will ask local officials Tuesday to provide educational facilities for students who have dropped out of or been expelled from traditional schools.

Concerned Citizens President Geraldine Lang said her organization will host a meeting about the matter at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Hancock County Youth Court building.

Other public officials being invited include Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terral Randolph, Bay, Waveland, Superintendent of Education Roger Oye and School

Board President Betty Diboll, Truant Officer Frank McNeil, Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. and Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr.

In addition, State Representative J.P. Compretta has agreed to provide assistance if the group decides to pursue some action that would require legislation.

"The main issue we want to address is to keep these children off the streets," Lang said.

She explained that Concerned Citizens became aware of the problem when asked to look into a matter regarding a student expelled from school.

She said she personally would prefer to see some sort of alternative school provided for expelled students and students who drop out of regular institutions, rather than a home study course.

She also said emphasis should be placed on a regular high school diploma and not a GED.

Lang is currently in the process of doing research on an alternative school program being used in St. Louis, Mo., to see if a similar project would be appropriate for Hancock County.

She added that she hopes such a move will deter the development of everything was back to normal and the back room was in operation again.

She also said evacuation following the fire alarm had been very orderly and the store had been evacuated for approximately 30 minutes to an hour.

Responding to the fire alarm were two Waveland pumper trucks, a salvage and overhaul truck and 13 Waveland firefighters.

A Bay St. Louis fire department also responded with a pumper truck and three firefighters.

Other volunteer firefighters assisted at the scene and the Diamondhead Fire Department was on call to assist if needed.

Garcia said all precautions necessary had been taken because the fire alarm had been sounded from a store in a shopping center.

County continues delay on Corps study funds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors will wait for the results of borings taken from the floor of the Mississippi Sound before deciding whether to continue funding a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers shore protection study.

After discussing the matter with Corps Representative Bob Martin, the board found that the study would be more expensive than originally anticipated.

The study was initiated in Fiscal Year 1987 to try to determine the best method of protecting the Hancock County shoreline and Beach Road.

The county is participating on a 50-50 funding basis in hopes that the results of the study can be used to obtain an estimated $12 million in grant funds that will be necessary to repair about eight miles of the county's 12-mile shoreline.

The county paid $77,000 for the first year of the study and had originally been asked to pay $66,000 for the second year, about $121,000 increased to about $138,000 by in-kind contributions by the end of fiscal year 1988.

On Friday, Martin told the board that the study will be more expensive than originally anticipated and that the board would be asked to pay additional monies that would raise their required balance by about $40,000.

"When we began to get the data together that we'd developed, we were not too comfortable with the numbers we got and the method we used to get them," Martin explained.

He told the board that he feels the cost-benefit ratio of the study is not as good as he had expected.
